

VSB Group Appoints Dr. Jörg Dolski as Managing Director

Dresden, 1 February 2018 – VSB, developer of renewable energy projects and windfarm specialist, has complemented its top management: As of late, Dr. Jörg Dolski has been working as managing director for VSB Holding GmbH. Profiting by his comprehensive managing experience in this field, he now promotes the further internationalisation of the company group. Dr. Dolski augments the management comprising Andreas Dorner und Marko Lieske.

The occupational career of the 41-year-old manager shows a broad international experience with employments in Germany, Denmark, Asia and North America. Jörg Dolski has held leading positions at Leoni AG, SMA Solar Technology AG, and Siemens Wind Power.

“VSB is in a global competition for the best ideas to shape the future energy system. We have pursued our international activities right from the beginning and intend to press ahead with this strategy. We are very pleased that Jörg Dolski will support us with his expertise in foreign markets and his know-how in the field of portfolio and product management. Together we are going to keep VSB Group on its constant course for growth,” says Mario Lieske, managing director of VSB Holding GmbH.

The VSB Group

VSB, with headquarters in Dresden, is one of the leading European developers in the renewable energy industry. The core business is the international project development of wind and photovoltaic farms and a comprehensive planning service provision. Since 1996 VSB has commissioned more than 450 wind energy and photovoltaic plants with approx. 860 megawatt of installed capacity and an investment volume of about 1.3 billion euros. The corporate group and the affiliated companies are supported by more than 200 employees.
